CARE SOCIETY

WHEN EVERY SECOND COUNTS... MEET THE NEUROCRITICAL CARE TEAM

In a neurological emergency, every second counts.

Comprised of physicians, nurses, pharmacists, advanced practice providers, researchers and scientists, the neurocritical care team serves patients with life-threatening brain and spinal cord emergencies and injuries, using training in areas like advanced brain and nervous system monitoring and pharmacotherapy.

They have one goal — to bring their collective knowledge to drive the best possible outcomes. Neurocritical care practitioners work as a team of multidisciplinary professionals who are dedicated to improving the health care and outcomes of patients with life-threatening neurological illnesses.

MEET THE NEUROCRITICAL CARE SOCIETY

The Neurocritical Care Society (NCS) is proud to be the only professional society representing multidisciplinary teams of neurocritical care providers around the world.

NCS conducts research critical to improving the lives of patients with neurological conditions. The society serves the professional needs of providers through practice guidelines, certification courses, a global neuroscience education conference called the Annual Meeting, online education and publications.

NCS exists to ensure that members of the neurocritical care team are ready to handle those first critical hours of a neurological emergency.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear NCS Partner,

As neurocritical care continues to reach new levels of innovation and impact, the Neurocritical Care Society (NCS) remains focused on elevating the field through collaboration, discovery and shared purpose. This year, we invite you to partner with us as we look ahead — toward new possibilities, new perspectives and the future of neurocritical care.

NCS is an international community of more than 3,300 multidisciplinary professionals, including physicians, nurses, advanced practice providers, pharmacists, trainees, residents and researchers. Our members are deeply engaged in advancing care for critically ill neurologic patients and serve as influential leaders and decision-makers across academic and clinical environments.

Throughout the year, we offer industry partners meaningful opportunities to connect with this community through targeted digital initiatives, educational collaborations and interactive engagements. These partnerships support continued learning, foster authentic dialogue and help translate innovation into improved patient outcomes.

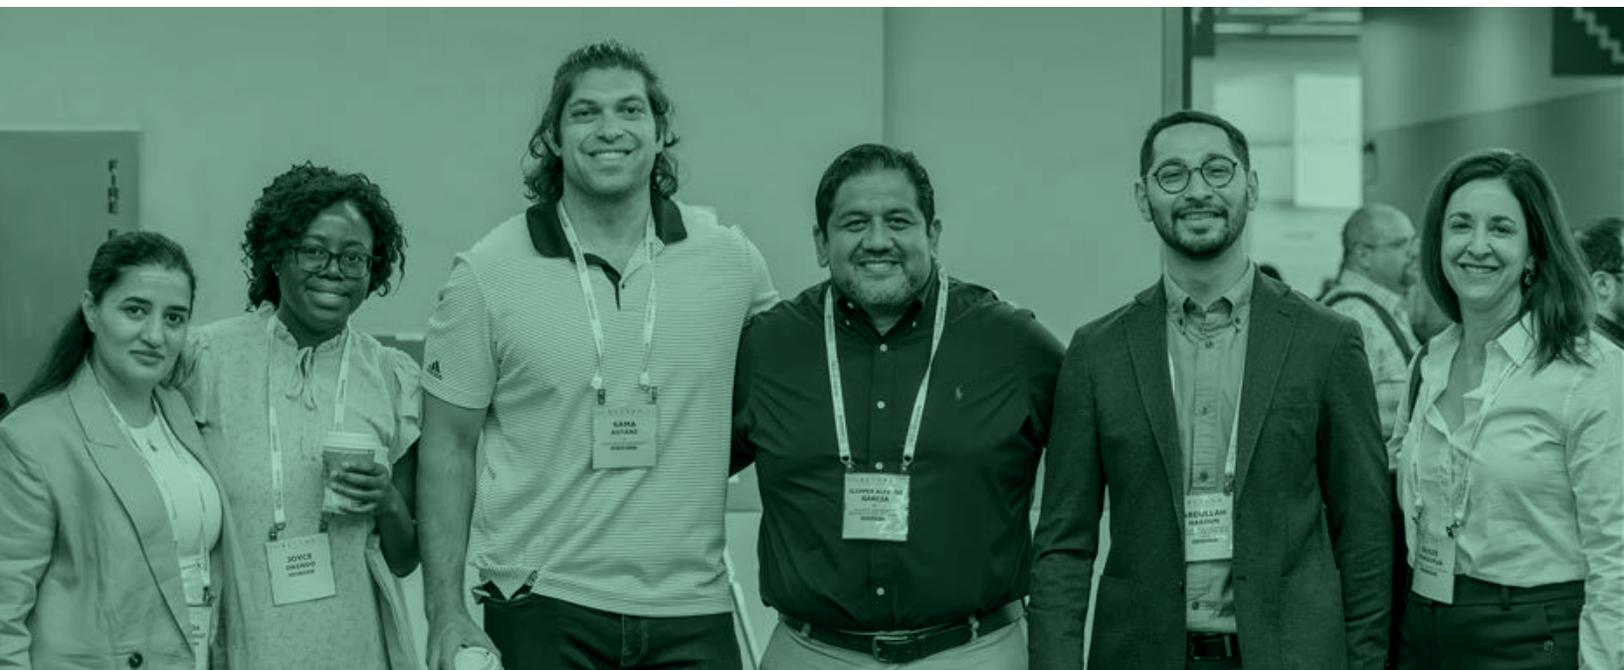

We also invite you to join us in person at the NCS Annual Meeting, taking place October 20-23, 2026, in Seattle, where the energy of the Pacific Northwest provides a fitting backdrop for forward-thinking conversations and bold ideas. This premier gathering brings together more than 1,000 neurocritical care leaders and offers a powerful platform to showcase innovations, expand your reach and engage directly with those shaping the future of the field.

Together, we can continue to push boundaries, gain new vantage points and elevate neurocritical care to new heights. We look forward to partnering with you and building lasting impact within our community.

“The NCS 23rd Annual Meeting was a great experience — a perfect blend of cutting-edge research, engaging discussions, and valuable networking opportunities. I came away feeling more confident and better equipped to advance care in the neurocritical care field. I valued the interprofessional organization and content of the sessions. I look forward to attending future events.”
